Women's Debating Schedule Released

Itinerary Includes Contests With Vassar, Pembroke And Massachusetts State

The women's debating schedule for the 1936-37 season has been tentatively arranged by Prof. Perley C. Perkins and Elizabeth B. Knox '37, manager of the team. During the fall the Middlebury debaters will tour New England, meeting representatives from some of the foremost colleges in forensic contests.

On October 20, a team from Bates college will travel to Middlebury where they will meet a trio composed of Edith K. DuBois '39, Frances E. Kellogg '39 and Hope T. Littlefield '39. Middlebury will uphold the negative on the question: resolved, that electrical utilities should be governmentally owned and operated. It will be a non-decision encounter.

The next scheduled debate is with Keene normal school in the first week of November at Middlebury.

Tentative plans for a fall trip have been made, including debates with Vassar, Saint Lawrence, Massachusetts state college, Mount Holyoke, Boston university, Rhode Island state and Pembroke. The schedule for debates after Christmas vacation has not been completed, but it will probably include contests with William and Mary and University of Vermont.

The schedule for the year when entirely completed will include contests with ten or twelve schools.

Alpha Sigma Phi Changes Location to New Quarters

The Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity has recently completed temporary alterations necessary for establishment in their new dwelling, the former Eddy house.

The new house, located on South street, offers better rooming accomodations, and generally a more convenient room arrangement. Apart from the changed location, the floor plan of the house itself is much more suited to the demands of the organization.

Further improvements in the way of remodeling and refurnishing will be undertaken in the near future.

The old Alpha Sigma house has been occupied by the fraternity for approximately twelve years. Constructed prior to the Civil war, the dwelling had gradually become inadequate for fraternity use.

Kaleidoscope Staff Convenes Monday

Extensive Alterations to Be Effected in Organization Of Layouts and Sections

A meeting of the 1938 Kaleidoscope editorial board was held Monday afternoon in order to discuss plans for the coming issue.

Robert J. M. Matteson, editor, outlined his intentions of a comprehensive reorganization of the 1938 edition of the year book as well as plans for the management of personel. A schedule of dates for individual pictures of the class of 1938 will be posted soon. These will begin October 15 and extend over a period of four days.

This afternoon sophomore tryouts for next year's editorial board were called out. Men and women reporting will immediately be set to work collecting and checking information for the faculty section of the 1938 Kaleidoscope. Business manager, Carlos B. Cook, issued a call for all tryouts for the business staff of the 1939 Kaleidoscope last Saturday. They will be employed in competitive subscription of advertisements during the coming year.

Extensive alterations over previous issues will be carried out in the 1938 Kaleidoscope. An effort will be made to increase the informality of organization and style without lowering the artistic standards previously maintained. Variety of layout and editorial material will be emphasized throughout and the human element will be stressed. Scenes of buildings and landscapes will be enlivened by having students in the foreground and an increased number of action pictures will supplant some of the writeups.

The various divisions are to be changed, the junior and fraternity sections undergoing quite radical alterations and the feature section enlarged. The parts devoted to Junior Week and Senior Week are already compjleted embodying a more modern layout than ever used before.

The photography contract has been

Thirteen New Members Admitted to English Club

The first meeting of the English club was held in Old Chapel yesterday afternoon. Thirteen applicants from the junior and senior classes were accepted for membership.

The list of accepted applicants is as follows: Loring D. Chase '37, Randall W. Hoffman '37, Carol Bloom '37, Helen B. Dawson '37, Margaret C. Dow '37, Susan L. Hathaway '37, Mary E. Lance '37, Everett S. Allen '38, Edward B. Hayward '38, John H. Ottemiller '38, Phillips Palmer '38, Alice N. Chase '38, Ruth E. Flicker '38.

A second regular meeting will be held at 7:45 this evening at the home of President and Mrs. Paul D. Moody. Dr. William S. Burrage of the Greek department will address the group.

Debaters To Meet Bates Team Away

Representatives Tuesday to Be Darrow, Pickard And Benner

NEW DEAL IS SUBJECT

Blue and White to Defend Policies of Roosevelt Administration

Opening the men's debating season Tuesday, a Middlebury trio will travel to Lewiston, Maine, to engage a forensic team from Bates college. Those making the trip will be John F. Darrow '37, Ralph W. Pickard '37 and Herman N. Benner '38.

The subject of the debate is as follows: Resolved, that the policies of the Roosevelt administration merit his reelection. The political question will be discussed from the affirmative viewpoint by the Blue and White trio, Bates upholding the negative. The American system of debate will be used. Each speaker will give an eight-minute constructive speech and a six-minute rebuttal. It is to be a non-decision debate.

All three speakers in Tuesday's debate have been regular varsity debaters in the past, Darrow and Pickard seeing service in most of the main contests of the past two years. These men will probably be the nucleus of this year's team.

Tomorrow night in Warner hemicycle tryouts for the freshman debating team will give a five-minute constructive speech and a three-minute rebuttal before Professor Perly C. Perkins, debating coach. About fifteen men of the class of '40 have shown their intention of becoming candidates for freshman debating.

Asher Sheinfield and G. R. Young of the universities of Wales and Birmingham, England, will compose a forensic due to visit Middlebury on November 24. This is a new addition to the tentative schedule released last week by Professor Perkins. As yet the subject or details of the debate have not been arranged.

Forum Holds First Meeting Of Season

Professor Centeno Gives Opening Talk on Subject Of Spanish Insurrection

The first meeting of the women's forum was held last night in the Forest hall recreation room. Professor Juan A. Centeno was the speaker, using as his topic "The Spanish Revolution."

Professor Centeno opened his talk by giving the back ground of the present state of affairs. He explained that Spain was not ready for the republic when it came in 1931, and the people did not know how to handle it. The republicans were divided into Leftists or socialists, and Rightists, made of monarchists, catholics and conservatives.

In the elections of 1933 the Rightists came out victorious because of united action and the influence of the women, who had the vote for the first time. They refounded the reforms of the earlier government, namely, separation of church and state. An interesting fallacy which is believed by most people was corrected by the speaker, who said that Spain was definitely not a catholic country.

Revolts cropped up constantly but were firmly and quietly oppressed until the election of February 1936. Great

First Saxonian of Year to Be Published Next Month

November 3 has been set as the dead line for all material for the first issue of the Saxonian, to be released about the middle of November.

A meeting of Editor-in-chief Randall W. Hoffman '37 and his associate staff will take place in the near future in order to complete plans for the first issue of the literary quarterly.

All classes are requested to submit poems, essays, short stories or any other type of literary composition. Particular attention will be given to the material submitted by the entering classes of both colleges in an effort to stimulate interest among underclassmen.

In addition, a call has been issued for anyone interested in doing art work for the publication. Such contributions should be turned in to Charles J. Harvi '36, art editor of the Saxonian.

N.Y.A. Enrolls 85 In Work Projects

Employment of Twelve Per Cent of College Provided For Under New Terms

Eighty-five students are, at present, employed on N.Y.A. projects on campus, according to a recent statement by Dean Hazeltine, who is in charge of the government assistance organization.

Under the terms of this year's appropriation, twelve per cent of the college enrollment may be employed. The maximum amount of remuneration allowed per capita is twenty dollars per month, although the average of all those on the pay roll must not exceed fifteen dollars.

Some of this year's employees are providing assistance in research and departmental work of a nature that cannot be met by regular college appropriations. In addition there are outdoor projects on campus, in the vicinities of Chipman hill and Battell forest, which are furnishing work for the greater number of the men students who have applied.

Community development, recreational and public service projects, and research constitute the predominant types of work to which the N.Y.A. aid is applicable. However, restriction to these particular categories has been abolished this year, permitting college students to receive federal employment through different lines of employment if the occasion arises.

Any question as to the success of N.Y.A. employment on college and university campuses is refuted by the statement of Aubry W. Williams, executive director of the movement, who declared that 94 or 95 per cent of the funds appropriated actually reached the students. The 1936-37 allotment has consequently been increased over last year's by $21,500,000.

While there will be no increase in the year-round average of the 500,000 young people aided by the program, expansion of vocational guidance and placement will take place.

Prof. Reginald L. Cook to Give Abernethy Reading

Prof. Reginald L. Cook will read selections from the works of Willa Cather in the Abernethy room of the library on Friday at 3:45 p. m.

This will be the first of this season's series of Friday afternoon readings by members of the faculty. Among those who will take part in programs before the Chrismas vacation are Prof. William S. Burrage, Prof. Frank W. Cady, Prof. V. Spencer Goodreds, and Prof. H. Goddard Owen.

Members of the faculty and of the student body are invited to attend the readings, the hour for which has been changed to 3:45 p. m. in order to avoid conflict with the twilight musicales offered on Friday afternoons by the A Tempo club.

Seven Programs Planned In Series Of Entertainments

Blanche Yurka Is Featured On First Program Of Season

ACTRESS TO TALK HERE THIS MONTH

Course to Be in Charge of Professor Lewis J. Hathaway

The entertainment course for the coming year, sponsored by Prof. Lewis J. Hathaway, will include eight performers well known in their respective fields.

The first in the series is Blanche Yurka, actress and lecturer who will come to Middlebury October 15. Miss Yurka has played several parts on the New York stage and also has appeared on the screen, her most recent part being that of Madame Defarge in "Tale of Two Cities". Her lecture subject, "The A. B. C. of the Theatre" will give her an opportunity to interpret roles from the Greek theatre through the development of drama up to the modern stage.

Irene Ward, member of the English parliament and ranking with the first five beautiful women of the British Isles will speak here October 28 on "Can English Democracy Outlive European Dictatorship".

November 5, the American dancer, Miriam Winslow will appear with her four assisting artists trained with the Denishawn dancers. They will present interpretations of the ballet to the music of such composers as Handel, Chopin, Dohanyi and Strauss.

On January 12, the editor-in-chief of the Atlantic Monthly, Edward Weeks, will give a lecture on literature. The Beaux Arts Singers, composed of four well known artists are to give a recital

Liberal Club Plans Activities For Year

Robert J. Matteson '38 Will Be Secretary of Group During Current Season

The Liberal Club held its first meeting of the year last Wednesday evening at 7 p. m. in Hepburn social hall. Frank B. Piskor '37, president of the organization, presided over the group.

A single change has been made in the executive board since last year's elections, with the election of Robert J. Matteson '38 to the position of secretary.

The main discussion of the opening meeting was centered around the program for the coming year, concerning the advisability of having a single major speaker in preference to two minor speakers. The outcome of the controversy resulted in selecting the latter arrangement as more feasible. One of the speakers will probably be presented in December, while the other will not appear until Spring, according to the program outline presented by Program Chairman Emory A. Hebard '38. As yet no definite selections have been made, but there will be an effort towards obtaining Payson Smith, commissioner of education in Massachusetts to appear before the student body.

Several other suggestions were proffered, in regard to the year's program, including an attempt to obtain speakers from the two major political parties. Definite action on this motion will be made at the next meeting of the club on October 21. Other meetings will be held in the fraternity houses.

AN INQUIRY—

"Great Britain will in the future depend on her air force and navy for protection against the possibility of war" is the substance of a statement made by Chamberlain before the British Parliament last week . . . Adolph Hitler at the annual Nazi party congress recently notified the world of his aims for domination in central Europe and the Ukraine . . . Japan is currently demanding of China conditions practically guaranteeing her hegemony in that country . . . The revolt in Spain has threatened to pit democracy against fascism all over the world.

On all sides the nations are inviting a new world conflagration, forgetting entirely the lessons of the last struggle, forgetting its appalling cost in men and money. The great dictatorships, bent on the twin objectives of nationalism and colonial empire, will stop at nothing short of war in the attainment of these aims.

World peace machinery, because of the lack of cooperation by the great powers, has been helpless. The League of Nations failed to act in the Chino-Japanese dispute of 1932, and its activities were inadequate to stop the Italo-Ethiopian conflict. England and France, most active supporters of the League, have abandoned hope of its becoming an effective instrument in the prevention of war without renewed interest among the other powers.

What shall the policy of the United States be under present conditions? What action can we take to guarantee our own neutrality in case of war? Three courses of action are clearly open. First is the immediate curtailment of our military expansion program. Despite the alarmist, yet singularly unconvincing, articles which have filled the Hearst press, the reason for this increase is not apparent. Moreover it is a threat to peace which cannot be overestimated.

We have failed in international cooperation in the past, our non-membership in the League during the twenties seriously crippled its work. Shall we again make this mistake, or will we in the future be ready to cooperate for common action in the cause of peace when and if it is undertaken? Our answer will largely determine the success or failure of such activity.

Finally what will our attitude be toward foreign trade and investments in the event of another war? The Nye committee has made an exhaustive study of our past experience—its recommendations have yet to be enacted into law. The temporary Neutrality bill is at best a stop-gap, permanent legislation is necessary. Our insistence on trade and neutrality rights in the last war embroiled us in a struggle whose daily cost exceeded a year's profit from trade. Will we again insist on making loans and furnishing supplies in the next war?

We are at present engaged in a political campaign prior to electing a president whose policies will guide the nation in the next four years. What stand do the parties take on foreign affairs? Governor Landon has made no comprehensive statement, yet he has altered the traditional policies of the Republican party to such an extent that its record would be an unreliable guide. President Roosevelt's record has been exceedingly contradictory. He has increased military appropriations to a peace time peak, yet he has signed the Neutrality bill and has abandoned American imperialism in South America.

Shall we continue our policy of military expansion, of non-cooperation with the other powers, shall we continue the war trade which embroiled us in the last war? The answers to these questions given in the next few weeks will determine our foreign program for the next four years. If they are unanswered our democracy has again failed to bring a vital issue before the voters.

CURRENT GLIMPSES

—by John Francis Darrow '37

DID YOU KNOW??? That in the A. T. & T. system, operating forces have been greatly reduced, while revenue is as high as in 1928??? That only 100 GAR men, average age 92, were in Washington for their recent convention??? And that American Legion are starting to work for widows' pensions, and more liberal Civil Service preference for veterans???

COLORED — Republicans are making great efforts to corral negro votes —as are Democrats. GOP points to Democratic opposition, in south, to anti-lynching bills, and Democrats counter showing all funds spent on negro, NY, Penn., Ill., and Ohio have large colored votes.

FRANCE — Following announcement of devaluation of franc, France lowered tariff walls almost a quarter. More than any country has done yet. France figures she can profit more by this move, as money will be cheaper and now, duties will not be as high. Hence, French hope to regain tourist and commercial trade. If plan proves success, other countries will follow in lowering tariff.

PALESTINE—After shirking its duty for almost half year, England finally attempts to settle Palestine trouble. Briefly, cause is this: During war, British promised Jews they would use Palestine for settlement. Many Arabs lived there. Became resentful of foreign colonization, and money purchasing their best lands. Same condition as in Germany. Great Britain also had made promise to Arabs, conflicting with Zionist promise. Result: Arabs revolted and killed Jews—England, until recently, fearful to accept its duty of restoring order. Perhaps it is coincidence that Hitler asks for land and Britain tightens up in Egypt?

DOPE—Democrats have it figured out that they can't help but win. Here's how. Take solid South—Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas—113 votes. Add border states, except Maryland: West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, Oklahoma—56 votes. Add Pacific states: California, Oregon, Washington—35 votes. Add only half the mountain states: Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah—14 votes. Add only one midwestern or farm state—Wisconsin is sure, and it brings it up to 230 votes. Add only one big eastern state and you have a majority of votes needed. Thus, Landon could take whole seaboard except Penn., big midwestern states of Ohio, Michigan, Indiana and Illinois and half the mountain states, and still not win. Of course, GOP has different ideas as to how votes will go, but impartial observers agree burden of proof is on them.

LABOR—Lewis and rebels have proposed to heal split with AF of L., but only a proposal. Unless Lewis and group can win a few points, conciliation is out of question. Lewis figures it is better to try to take organization from outside, than to tear it apart from outside.

NEW YORK—News for next month is mostly political—and tripe. However, NY offers problem. Republicans chose good man, Supreme Court Judge Bleakley, for nomination of governor. Hails from Weschester, well liked in and near NY, is Irish and has large following from flock of Erin. All this has little to do with judging qualifications of Lehman and Bleakley, but it will be deciding factor. Democratic success depends on Tammany. If the chiefs and squaws get out vote, Democrats will win, but it is rumored in best informed circles that NY Democrats, aiming to knife Farley and Roosevelt (and also themselves) will not round out Pat and Jim.

ELMER

——by Jigger

Dear Pop:

It has been said that one is not a columnist until one has been designated with the title of "rat". If that is the requisite, pin on the laurels while I bow my neck in recognition. That's all the thanks I get for ripping off this weekly drivel. I should pick up my marbles and go to U. V. M. to play around. And frans,—speaking of U. V. M., it seems that the frosh there are putting on a bit of drama with a Spanish tinge—revolting. And consequently they are enforcing the freshman rules upon the sophomores — which proves, I suppose that the Blue and White frosh are gentlemen—although I'm not making any rash statements yet.

Rumor has it that in one women's dorm when every coed who wishes has a date for the evening they leave the phone receivers off to avoid further futile annoyance. Orchids to the female Edison? One upperclassman is taking a ride in his house because one of the weaker sex was so indiscreet as to send intimacies from the Roseland on a postcard—Tsk. It took a long time for the story to get here—but it did.

Concerning the undergrad who slipped madly into a seat in Radio City hall this summer to find that he had usurped it from a Midd prof and that said prof's wife was in the seat next. P. S. they didn't recognize him. Romance is fickle—even the subject of canned beer refrigeration can drive Cupid thither. Especially if the beer is personal property and the woman in the case is a Prohibitionist. And—not all the women in the freshman class had dates last week, or so I was informed in cutting tones. Sour grapes?

A few shots from the Inn dance—The junior whose femme was taken away by a cut-in during the dance. And when time came to reclaim her, couldn't recognize her—except by spotting her male accompanist. Even if it was a first date—that's too much. There was a wedding proposal too—accepted, by the way. Funny what music will do! Quite noticeable that upperclass stags were in predominance—leaving frosh men holding the bag in several cases. And do you know why the Inn dance was halted at nine-thirty? Politics again.

The first auditor in one of the classes in O. C. was a bespeckled feline —rather a disrupting element, so they say. And they're still gasping over the Ec prof who tore up a five dollar bill to stress the point. Wonder if the big frosh turn-out for football is due to the fact that they think there might be some blackberry cordial involved? Who started the crack that profs are underpaid because they spotted one of them examining the contents of a rubbish pile? And, incidentally, why was he? Choir members are running a stiff practice schedule—with proportionately a shot for the frosh coeds (in response creditable results—orchids again. And to an interrogation) the water supply is definitely not derived from "Passionate Puddle". At ease, Jigger, simmer down!

Women's golf practice out on the course proved interesting—and detrimental to the cross-country team—so the weaker sex commanded the harriers to do an about face—at least until they had replaced the divots. Did you hear the bells and wonder why too? At two-thirty the other A.M. accompanied by the noises of frantic femininity packing its valuables in preparation for fleeing—false alarm. Unprecedented number of seniors in the Home Ec course this yr.—Hmmmmm! How come? And anything will do for an excuse for late permission on Thurs. eve—hey keeds? Emphazing the American love for freedom, I suppose. Who did a "Sir Walter Raleigh", carrying a fair damozel at least a quarter of a mile out of pure chivalry—or maybe he was just showing off.

CENTENO SPEAKER AT FORUM MEETING

surprise was manifested when it became known that the Leftists had won the vote. Immediately plans for open revolt were put into effect by the opposing party, headed by Calvo Sotela. This rebellion broke shortly before July 25 with the assassination of leaders in both factions. General Franco and other officers led the military revolt and soon the governing party was surrounded.

As conditions now rest, the government has been gaining and falling back off and on, but Professor Centeno is of the opinion that its forces are becoming weakened because of a shortage of food, ammunition and men.

The speaker then said that the solution could not lie in the way of a compromise; one side must win. If the Rightists are victorious a military dictatorship headed by General Franco will probably follow. This will undoubtedly please Italy, and Germany, the only other two countries in Europe with this form of government, who are helping this party.

On the other hand, if the Leftists or loyalists gain the upper hand, either a proletariat form of government will result, or the political regime will continue as it now is, with perhaps a more liberal and democratic attitude.

After the lecture, an open discussion was held in which students asked questions.

Solo selections by Werner P. Ickstadt '38, and several German pieces under a trio arrangement were presented in the way of entertainment. Prof. Kurt Neuse and Hans W. Roepke '37, German exchange student, also proffered short talks.

M. Lois Bestor '37 and Mary C. Hastings '37 were elected to the program committee.

Valeria E. Halligan '38 has been named director of the classes, and her assistants are Anne F. Sargent '38 and Audrey V. Dimm '39.

Dr. Carroll Perry Is Chapel Speaker

Describes Individuality and Personality as Influential "Shadows" of Good Men

Dr. Carroll Perry of Ipswich, Mass. was the speaker at vespers Sunday. He took as his text Acts v: 15, "So they brought their sick into the streets and laid them on beds and couches that at least the shadow of Peter passing by might overshadow them."

"Shadows are very important things in our lives", Dr. Perry began. "In former times primitive man used to think of his shadow as another self. The shadow of a man stands for the flavor, individuality and power of his personality.

"We all try to impress our personalities upon other people. As an example of a man who had great influence over many people, we might cite Mark Hopkins, for many years the president of Williams college. Peter was another of these men. His influence over others was so great that people had faith in the ability of his very shadow to heal them.

"The power of such a man rests upon an experience of Christ", the speaker declared. "Few of us are all right as we naturally are. We must be redeemed by the living Christ. One of the greatest blessings that can come to us is a hostile environment, for conquering it with the help of Christ gives us a sense of the power of God.

"Christ is now, as he was when on earth, a triumphant personality, casting a shadow on mankind. This is what we mean when we sing, 'In the cross of Christ I go, towering o'er the wrecks of time'."

Pleiad Trip Taken By Mountain Club

Four Groups Visit Bailey's Falls and Silent Cliff on Opening Hike of Season

Over two hundred members of the Mountain club visited Lake Pleiad, Silent Cliff, Bailey's Falls and Pleiad Lookout Sunday on the opening hike of the fall season.

Owing to the large turnout, the group was split into four sections which hiked to the different objectives separately, returning to the rocks at Pleiad Lake for lunch. The groups were led by Loring D. Chase '37, president of the organization, Herbert T. S. Ellison '37, Paul W. Foster '37 and Deane F. Kent '38.

Contrary to the announcement appearing in last week's CAMPUS, the Pleiad trip will not be repeated. Instead the Mountain Club trucks will head for Lake Dunmore as a starting point for Mt. Moosalamoo and Silver Lake. This hike will be free for those members who did not make the Pleiad trip; for others a charge of thirty-five cents will be made.

Two sign-up sheets will be posted in Warner Science lobby for those wishing to go at 8:45 or 9:45 and trucks will leave Battell Cottage at those times. Members will bring the usual lunch and cup.

So What?

by Heinz

MIDDLEBURY BLOCKS KICK TO WIN . . . seems to be a weekly feature of sports pages this fall. Yes, it happens every Saturday, or so it appears. Eleven fellows named Herman will line up against our boys, one will drop back to punt, and the next thing we know some fair haired son in bonny blue is in there slappin' him down and takin' his ball away. In fact kids, if this keeps up much longer, the man without a blocked punt to his credit will go on exhibit along with the fellow who has paid his semester bill in full and the freshman who knows his rules, as a curio and the only of his species. It's a fact.

Its A Long Way

Anyway, we've travelled in all the better part of a thousand miles to see that happen twice, and like that Senior with the slapped face, far be it from me to say it wasn't worth it. Now, I'll admit that its mighty nice now and then to see one of your backs take a ball across a goal line, but then look at it from Ripley's view point. Can't you just see it kids—"Believe it or not. Middlebury College's (in Vermont) football team went undefeated and untied through an eight game schedule without the backfield scoring a point"? Hold your hats, we're on our way reader, if you're still with me!

Seriously though, kidding the backfield isn't my point, it's just the wind-up. They'll be O. K. That is, if they only get started. On the other hand, they may be excused against Union as it was only the first game. In that same vein, Saturday's performance has some justification too. Don't let anybody tell you that Colby line was a string of sandbags by any means. It wasn't. Those lads from the land of locomotive smoke were tough in all departments. Kids who play around railroad tracks all their lives usually are. Colby was. Let's wait until next Saturday and then pass judgment.

Come Saturday

Now then, Saturday finds Middlebury meeting a Coast Guard of rather unknown quality and providing most of you with the first opportunity to see our boys. Frankly, you'll be looking at a good Middlebury team, and for one reason. You'll be looking at a Middlebury team that has spirit and wants to win. It isn't every year you can see that. When you've been here three years you'll realize what I say is true. Again I say, this year we have a club that wants to win ball games.

Sitting entrenched among the enemy these past two Saturday afternoons, I've heard plenty of talk of breaks and luck. Middlebury has won two games fairly, and in the hard way. Being penalized over one hundred yards in a game isn't getting the breaks. Blocking a kick and then fighting off the other team for three periods with your back to the wall certainly isn't taking things the easy way either. Middlebury has been the party in both instances.

They Can

So kids, Middlebury has a team that can win and will win if you want them to. Williamson's Scientific Ratings, as compiled after we met Union, rates Middlebury's relative strength in comparison with its scheduled opponents at 36.0. Though I haven't seen the rating since Colby, it must be closer to 50.0. Now, though I'm no Williamson and I'm not scientific, I'd say 88.5 is a closer figure, and I wouldn't put 100.0 out of the question either. Yes, I'm talking about an undefeated season in case you don't understand the figures.

A lot then depends on you and you. Our bench made a lot more noise over at Colby than the whole Mule grandstand. That would look pathetic over here. How about it? Comparative scores say our boys have got to be 30 points better than Brown to beat Coast Guard. Will you join me in a loud and long—So What?—hey?

Gridsters To Play Coast Guard Here

Middmen Will Open Home Season at Porter Field On Saturday Afternoon

The Blue and White gridmen will open their home season Saturday afternoon against Coast Guard academy at Porter Field.

Victorious in two contests away, the Beckmen are out to revenge an 8-6 set-back at the hands of the Guardsmen last year beneath floodlights at New London. Two years ago at Middlebury, the Panther took the Cadets' measure, 26-6. Coast Guard this season has played two scoreless ties, against Wesleyan in the initial test and Worcester Tech., last Saturday. As in its two previous contests, Middlebury will face a team with strength and weakness similar to its own: rugged defense but ineffective offense.

The strongholds in the Academy line are Bakanas and Brown, ends, Winstead and West, guards, and Knickern, center. Weak in reserve power like Middlebury, Coast Guard is forced to use nearly its starting line-up throughout the entire game. In the backfield Waldron of basketball fame is most prominent at the fullback position, while Davis and Land take the halfback posts and the quarterback assignment is divided.

The Panther eleven, still intact after two grueling encounters, seems much improved over the early season drills as testified by its work against Union and Colby. Guarnaccia, out of the Colby game with an injury, will be in shape Saturday and should add considerably to the offensive. The line of Craig and Kirk at the ends, Seixas and Cridland at the tackles, Anderson and Hoffman at the guards and Lovell or Golembeske at the pivot should be easily a match for the Guardsmen.

Defensively Middlebury is at its best in recent years and it is doubtful whether the team will be outweighed or outplayed in this department at any time this season with the possible exception of the St. Lawrence game. Chalmers and Boehm together with Guarnaccia have been the sparkplugs in the backfield to date and with aid from Van Doren, Philipson, Liljenstein and Williams, the attack will improve. Though a close, low-score encounter should be the feature Saturday, Middlebury, by virtue of its two victories, commands the edge.

Second Round Reached In Fall Tennis Tourney

The first rounds in the fall intramural tennis tournament have been completed in both the men's singles and mixed doubles sections.

In the singles the second round will be played by tomorrow and the quarter-finals by Monday. Those men remaining in the field are R. C. Anderson, A. Avery, Brainard, Brown, Buskey, Cairns, Harvi, Kier, Leggett, W. McMahon, O'Keefe, Phinney and Westin.

The teams in the mixed doubles will be required to complete the second round tomorrow. The winning pairs are Brown-Barnum, Buskey-Cornwall, Cairns-Overton, Hallock-Fischer, Hildreth-Cook, Pickard-Plumer, O'Keefe-Halligan, Stone-Godley, Ward-Liddle.

MANAGERS SELECTED

The athletic council selected managers of several sports at a meeting yesterday afternoon.

Earl L. Giller '37 and Parmelee C. Hill '37 were chosen to be the student directors of intramural activities, according to a new plan recently adopted. Allison S. Beebe '38 and Richard C. Soule '38 were elected assistants.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Entries for the intramural golf tournament close at 5 o'clock today. Assignments will be posted tomorrow morning.

Each of the fraternities and the neutral body may be represented by a team. As in past years, undergraduates who have not participated in the corresponding varsity sport may enter.

The plan as announced is for each fraternal body to be represented by a three-man team. Each golfer will be matched against a member of the opposing trio.

Intramural touch football will start Monday. The same rules as for golf are in force, one team from each fraternity and the neutral body being chosen.

The first round will be played as follows: KDR vs. BK, CP vs. ASP, DU vs. SPE and Neutrals vs. DKE.

The winner of game one will play the victor of game two and the winners of encounters three and four will be matched. There will then be a final playoff between the two victors.

Frosh To Contest Union Footballers

Encounter at Schenectady Saturday Will Be First Test for Panther Squad

Middlebury's freshman football team will journey to Schenectady this weekend where it will engage the Union frosh Saturday afternoon in the first game of the season for either team.

According to all reports the Garnet first year men have a rather strong club this year with a pair of guards and two backs somewhat above the ordinary for a freshman team. In a scrimmage game with the Union varsity reserves last week, the Garnet frosh triumphed by a 12-6 score. However, after the excellent showing made by the Blue and White first year team in their tangle with the Panther varsity reserves yesterday, there is little to forbode in this respect.

Coach Nash still has a squad of about thirty men to choose his team from and there is plenty of rivalry for positions. Mahoney is performing very creditably in the quarterback post, with Fairchild and Quackenbush, dash man from Johnstown, as chief contenders. The remaining backfield positions will probably be filled from among McCarthy, Cahn, Johnson, Lilly, and Evans.

At the ends Schragle and Tupka are looking well as are Cole and Pierrel. In the scrimmage between two freshmen teams Saturday, tackles Matulis and Myers seemed the deciding factor. The guard posts are disputed among Profy, Jaques, Gilpin and F. Davis while Stabile alternates with DeMerritt, 270 pound center and tackle in the pivot position. North and G. Davis are also under consideration as tackles. Coach Nash intends to take as many men as possible with him Saturday in order to give himself the opportunity of observing them under fire.

Intermural Sports Program Issued For Season by Athletic Department

Following a meeting of the Athletic council, the intramural program bulletin for the 1937 season has been issued, containing complete data and regulations for the non-varsity competition.

Team badminton, newly inaugurated last year, was re-voted in unanimously due to the enthusiasm displayed during the past season. Both touch football and volley ball are to be included this year, contrary to the usual alternating schedule which has been carried out in previous seasons. Basketball will be conducted as usual, with two leagues in the starting competition, a third league to be formed from the original duo for place competition.

| Middlebury | 6 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 6 |

Time: Four 15 minute periods.

Referee: Mahon. Umpire: Daly. Linesman: Taylor. Field Judge: Young.

Presenting a defense that was as rock-bound as the nearby coast, Middlebury's football forces turned back one wave after another of Colby offense to win by a 6-0 score at Waterville, Me. Saturday.

For the second time in as many games, it was blocking a kick which meant victory for the Blue and White. On this occasion it came after about five minutes of play, as Seixas crashed through to block Rancourt's punt on the 20 yard line and carry over for the score. Anderson's attempted placement for point went wide, and from then on Middlebury was on the defensive, valiently fighting to protect her lead. Once again in the last quarter did Middlebury threaten, but Colby's six first downs to Middlebury's three show with whom the burden of the defensive rested.

Weak Offense

Neither team showed much of an offensive in comparison with its defensive strength. For Colby the elusive Yadwinski, whose ninety yard run last year beat Vermont, was a threat all afternoon. Time after time he ran back kicks or hit the line in a manner that would have marked him a star on any team, large or small. To give the impression that he ran wild, however, is not correct, for Middlebury, playing inspired and heads-up ball, managed to keep him in check, and his mates as well, when the occasion demanded. Seixas, in the Blue and White line, was a stand-out throughout the game, but credit must go to everyone of Middlebury's men who fought off the repeated Colby charges. They played hard and spirited football.

First Half Close

Outside of blocking the kick for the score, Middlebury had only a shade the better of the going during the first half, with Colby down to the Panther 20 yard stripe when Boehm intercepted a pass and thwarted the first Blue and Grey threat. The White Mules had another chance to score with the opening of the second half, for a bad pass from center flew over Phillipson's head and was taken by Thompson of Colby on the Panther 25 yard stripe. A penalty and several incomplete passes, however, proved sufficient to once again destroy the Colby chances.

Midd Fumbles

Again in the final minutes of the third quarter, Middlebury fumbled, this time on its own 15 yard line and Colby once more pressed to the attack. Two plays netted eight yards to the Panther 7 yard marker, but Middlebury held again and intercepted a pass to take possession of the ball on its own 2 yard stripe. Here it was that Craig dropped back to his own 2 yard line and booted a punt that still has Colby talking. The ball travelled over seventy yards through the air, and with a twenty yard roll was picked up on the Colby 2 yard line and advanced to the 8. This kick sealed the Blue and Grey's fate, for never again were they deep in pay territory.

Pass Complete

Midway in the last period, a pass from Chalmers to Van Doren netted fifteen yards and placed the Panther on the Colby 17 yard stripe. A small gain and a Colby penalty brought the ball to the 10. Chalmers carried for four yards more, but an attempted field goal missed its mark and Middlebury was forced to content itself with a six point victory.

Unusual features of the game were Colby's attempting in the vicinity of twenty passes, and Middlebury's penalties which in all totaled over one hundred yards. On six different occasions Middlebury was fined fifteen yards for such offenses as holding and clipping. Luckily, however, these penalties did not come at strategic moments, or the aspect of things might have been drastically changed.

Tennis and Golf Contests Are First W. A. A. Events

The W. A. A. fall sports program has gotten under way with the beginning of the annual tennis and golf tournaments.

The tennis tourney is in charge of Valeria E. Halligan '38, who was runner-up to L. Joyce Godley '38 in last season's competition. The finals are to be played within the next ten days.

The golf tournament, directed by Eleanor G. Milligan '37, is well under way. The final round is to be played off by next Wednesday afternoon. Doris A. Wall '36, last year's winner, graduated this spring, leaving Helen V. Jordan '38, runner-up, as outstanding contender.

Hockey practice, held twice a week for each class, started last Wednesday and will continue for another week when class competition will begin. Each member of the championship team will receive 150 points toward their credit for a letter.

Harriers Practice On Local Course

Middlebury Squad in Good Shape for Time Trials to Be Held This Week-End

The Middlebury cross country team has been continuing its practice the last week with more intensive workouts on the local course. Time trials may be held at the end of the week.

Generally fair weather and warm days have made possible fast conditioning of the squad and it is expected that many of its potentialities will be revealed in the trials. These trials are run over the whole course and, while not always decisive, are the first indications of the team's speed under racing conditions.

By means of tests this week-end and possibly more the following week Coach Brown expects to gain an idea of his men's abilities. In the first varsity engagement last year, however, the entire squad took part. At this time MacFadyen, running against R. P. I., tied the record for the local course.

The Blue and White will open its season with Union a week from Saturday on the Middlebury course. This will be one of the two home meets of the year.

The following week the Panthers journey to Troy, New York, to encounter the R. P. I. harriers and November 7 to Hanover where they engage the big Green team.

In the final contest of the year the Blue and White long-distance men compete against Vermont for the state championship on the local course as a feature of Home Coming preceedings. Last year U. V. M. was victorious by an overwhelming score in a meet which was run over the Catamounts home course.
